

Valley Services Portable Restrooms & Septic Services

Valley Services, provides portable restroom services, residential septic pumping, recreation and commercial vault service cleaning to markets including, oil field, residential, commercial, and government agencies. The owner has a strong knowledge of this business, a sound history of service and contract completion, and a strong desire to expand business operations into a broader field of services and marketing territory. Valley Services currently holds contracts with, and supplies services to: Burlington Resources, Devon Energy, Marathon Oil & Gas, Tom Brown, Inc., Platte Pipeline, Bureau of Reclamation, and more.

Valley Services was started in 1999, through a purchase of assets from Valley Sanitation, a sanitation business well established in Fremont County and Wyoming in commercial trash, construction roll off, oil field services and portable restroom services. Bridget Kintzler was employed by Valley Sanitation as office manager for two years prior to their sale to Waste Management. The toilet/septic portion of business were not purchased providing an opportunity for Ms. Kintzler to establish a small business.

Upon the purchase of Valley Services she became the owner, sales person, office manager, and oil field hand performing her own service duties for the first year of business. She became a woman doing business in a male dominated field, both in business ownership, and territory.

The business has steadily grown, even with the addition of three new businesses in the area in the same field of trade. It is because of the growing number of businesses starting up in the area, that an expansion into a broader area of services and service area is imperative in the survival of the company. The future success of Valley Sanitation depends on the expansion into other lines of work such as sub-surface investigation, emergency spill response, tank cleaning etc. SBA has certified Valley Services as an 8a firm.
